ICEBREAKER BINGO

Make a copy of this form for every member of your team and have them spread out in the gym. Fill in the bottom boxes with unique traits specific to your program or area and then have them collect names to "fill" up their bingo board. This activity allows your team to get to know each other by name and also learn more about each other. At the end, the person who fills out the whole board has to name and identify each person and the trait that belongs to them. This fun activity will get your team to bond, be active and hopefully see what they have in common!
